Mr. Robert Edmonstone of Bloomfield, N. J., walked from the New York City Hotel to the Hotel, Oswayo Lake last Sunday afternoon and Sunday morning, covering a distance of 13 hours.

The delay in completing the laying of the gas mains along Bloomfield street is owing to the want of pipe. The pipes ordered some time ago from the Erie County Co. of Philadelphia.

The Board of Trustees of the Franklin Street School in East Orange, have ordered the dismissal of the large number of Bloomfield children attending that school on Tuesday morning they were absent home.

The marriage of Mr. Ellis Williamson of Bloomfield, and Miss Ida Ashby of East Orange took place on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. Williamson on Montgomery street. Rev. John A. Paul performed the ceremony.

Frank McGregor and Henry were arrested the former on Saturday and the latter on Sunday, for an alleged assault and highway robbery committed on the person of Andrew Zwickler, a peddler. The robbery was committed a little over a week ago on Washington avenue near the Erie street. The scarf pipe was stolen from him. Judge Hall committed McGregor to jail.

A woman of very affable address and of touching the sympathetic nature of her listener's heart has been going through this and neighboring towns selling olive. She gives her name as Mrs. Smith and plaintively states that she is reduced to the necessity of following her vocation to enable her to raise funds to give her husband's remains a decent burial. He was drowned in the North River, she avers, and his body now lies in the morgue. Many ladies were moved by her. One old lady of means gave her $25 and another $15. When she reached Belleville she hired a carriage and drove to Rutherford.

A contractor O. Rourke was full of wrath last Monday morning. He was annoyed by the appearance of a gang of men employed by the Water Company, who brought their tools along with them for the purpose of sinking the water mains on Belleville avenue a foot deeper in the ground. This would necessitate the tearing up of the contractors' nicely finished sidewalk and he had got it completed. After consultation between the road officers and the superintendent of the Water Company it was decided to leave the pipe as it was.

The Board of School Trustees held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday night. There was a full attendance. The Trustees Committee presented the names of the newly appointed teachers for approval. They were Miss Imogene Martin, Miss Arvilla Martin and Miss Lotta Grant. The latter will act as music teacher. The Building Committee presented a bill for the proposed alterations at Berkeley School. A formal session of them ensued but nothing was done in regard to them.

Mr. Thos. B. Baxter moved into his new handsome real estate office last evening. Aside from his desirable location for real estate business, Mr. Baxter's new building has attracted much attention on account of its unique design and finish. The interior has been furnished with every convenience for the transaction of business. With Roseville, Bloomfield can now share the honors of being the most real estate offices to be along the line of the D. L. & W. R. R.

The late Rev. George Duffield, D. D. "The pilgrim they laid in a large upper chamber, whose windows opened towards the sunning: The name of the chamber was Peace."

It was a peaceful Sabbath, every green thing was fresh and bright. The village park with its majestic, graceful elms was in its glory. A more perfect afternoon could not have been given, we thought as we entered the old church of the village, to pay the last tribute to the one we venerated and loved.

Slowly the church bell tolled, telling us the funeral procession was on its mournful way; toll, toll, tolling; the measured tread of the horses keeping step with its time. We heard them nearing, then stopping. The church doors were opened wide, the organ began a plaintive dirge; a voice was heard repeating slowly and solemnly "I am the resurrection and the life." With one accord the congregation arose. He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live. And I heard a voice from heaven saying, Write blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them. "Devo!" men carried the casket up the aisle, followed by an only remaining child and the nearest friends, and placed it before the pulpit, where many years before, those silent lips were eloquent to urge sinners to repentance and Christians to live holier lives. Those ears were deaf to the sweet music of the choir who sang hymns of life ever composing; those eyes were closed, ready to weep with those who wept, could not see the emblem of mourning that loving hands had prepared, or the pains that stood around as tokens of victory, or the tears that were flowing that we should see no more.

A dear friend of the departed gave us his text. "And Enoch walked with God, and he was not, for God took him." He spoke of how his friend had walked with God in faith, in love and in works. How strong his belief in a constant-keeping God. How fully he relied upon the strength that cometh down from above to help him in his work of saving souls; how he prayed and labored in faith. He walked with God in love; how strong his love was for the Master, for every good cause, for men; how deep his affection for kindred and friends. He walked with God in patriotism; how marked the love of country in his soul, even to the risk of his own life and that of his son, who together went to the "front" in the late war. He walked with God in the poetry he wrote. His hymn "Stand up, stand up for Jesus" is known wherever the English language is spoken, and has been translated into several languages. How precious the thought, it would be said of one in these days, "He walked with God."

A closing hymn and then the casket, borne by the silent bearers, was lowered into the silent sleeper as he lay grand and noble in death. The bright, loving expression was gone, but there was a strength and grandeur in those features death could not take away.

"Earth, to thy bosom We this pledge intrust, Oh we pray be careful Of the precious dust!"

This was once the mission of the "The Silent One" With sunset peeped out By the breath of God.

Evening came and twilight lingered. A dim light could be seen within the church; upon entering the casket still stood before the pulpit, the flowers festooned over its black drapery were withering, the silence was broken only by the ticking of the gallery clock. A watcher kept his solitary vigil, and he who was wont to speak to well filled pews lay there among them, silent and alone. Alone? How do we know that silent form was alone? How do we know that once a temple of the living God? Could our spiritual senses have been opened, what might we have seen? Could voices come back to those empty pews, from those who long had worshipped in the upper sanctuary what would they say? Just what the clock is ticking now—time flies, time flies; listen to the preacher; keep the commandments; work for the Master; love as this one loved; he did his work well; he saved souls; teach the truth; live the truth; that's what he did; you must die; there is a future; prepare to meet it. They would say much more, but we cannot carry the light of love back to those pews; we leave him in the sacred place he loved so well. The church is honored by his presence. Farewell, dear friend; we shall miss thy blessed words, thy counsels and examples, thy affectionate sympathy. Farewell, they will take thee away tomorrow, and lay thee beside thy loved ones. We shall often think of thee and mourn that we shall see thy face no more. Good night, perhaps thou wouldst have us say "good night, but in some brighter clime But me good morning!"

Unannounced Mass Meeting.

Tariff discussions are the prevailing rage. Wherever men congregate the tariff soon becomes the absorbing topic of conversation. Professional men, merchants, mechanics and men engaged in every grade of labor all have their say in the great universal national debate. Perhaps much good may develop from this campaign. The people are bound to be educated. They are becoming familiar with one of the most intricate of economic questions. A good illustration of the interest manifested was witnessed Tuesday night on Bloomfield avenue. Mr. Jacob Post, a stalwart Republican and Protectionist, who invariably denounces his Democratic opponents in political arguments, encountered Mr. G. W. Hopping, a free trader. The worst contest soon waxed warm. Both men were well posted on their respective partisan side of the question. The people gathered around and it is estimated the debaters had an audience of nearly two hundred at the close of the contest.

Policemen Wanted.

Mr. Oscar W. Riggs of Glen Ridge, complained to the chairman of the Town Committee about the police service. While Mr. Riggs was absent in the city, the domestic employed by his family created a disturbance and threatened to kill Mrs. Riggs, burn the house down, and other malicious acts. Mrs. Riggs was compelled to flee from the house with her child. She hailed a butcher driving a rig to Bloomfield and asked him to have a policeman sent up. The butcher informed Mr. Harvey but he refused to have a policeman sent up. The warrant had been taken out and the matter was simply a dispute over wages between Mrs. Riggs and the servant girl. The latter wanted to go away and demanded her money.

The Water Pressure.

Chief Engineer Johnson of the Bloomfield Fire Department, has submitted to the Township Committee the result of recent tests of the water pressure. The last published test in THE CITIZEN was for July 24th, when the average pressure of water was found to be 24 lbs. 3 hydrants being without water. At the examination made August 15th, there was no water at Mr. Smith's on Glen Ridge avenue, but an average of 24 lbs. by 8 hydrants tested. On August 16th, there was an average pressure of 46 lbs. by 4 hydrants. On August 22d the pressure was 31 lbs., the test being made upon 8 hydrants. On Sept. 5th, 8 hydrants gave an average pressure of 41 lbs.

The following is the pressure indicated at the several hydrants tested on Sept. 5th: Corner of Ridgewood and Washington street, 45 lbs.; School place, 45 lbs.; opposite Mr. Chatterling's, 25 lbs.; E. B. Corly's, Bloomfield avenue, 20 lbs.; A. A. Smith's, Glen Ridge avenue, 30 lbs.; corner of Ridgewood and Linden avenues, 35 lbs.; Egbert Ward's, 50 lbs.; G. Lee Stout's, Franklin street, 70 lbs.; Mrs. Cleveland's Franklin street, 65 lbs.; Mrs. Bartholomew's, Bloomfield avenue, 60 lbs.; Truck House, 80 lbs.; average pressure, 54 lbs. This last test proved very satisfactory to the Township Committee, evidencing an effort on the part of the Water Company to do what it could to remedy the defects complained of.

Watessing.

—The Grand and Petit Jurors meet on Sept. 11th.

—James E. Ellor has moved into his new residence on Maury avenue.

—An infant child in the family of Samuel Shallock died on Saturday.

—The Bloomfield fishers held their regular quarterly meeting on Tuesday night.

—Presiding Elder Van Benschoten is announced to preach in the Watessing M. E. Church to-morrow.

—Rev. A. H. Brown, a former pastor of the Watessing M. E. Church, has charge of the prohibition party's campaign tent in Essex County.

—Labor day was appropriately observed as a holiday in Watessing. The hat factories closed down. Many people visited seaside resorts and went on fishing excursions.

—A resident of Watessing was bitten by a dog which he was training to kill rats. He held a rat and the dog making a grab for it nipped it and sunk its teeth in his hand.

—Mr. D. F. Merritt states that Mr. Geo. J. Ferry reported to have gone back to Democracy, expects to vote for Gen. Fisk for the presidency and will probably vote for Republican assemblyman.

—Berkeley school is again filled up. The seating capacity of the primary class is forty-two scholars. Forty-nine were received on the opening day. It is said this number will be materially increased in the course of a few weeks.

—An eminently respectable gentleman formerly well-known here, claims to have made a discovery of great interest to hat makers. Formulated copies of the idea were received by the manufacturers here last week. The discovery meets with favor and some of the manufacturers are inclined to adopt the suggestion.

Baseball Notes.

—An exciting game of baseball was witnessed at Watessing on Saturday between the Electric Lights of Harrison, and the Brick Row Athletics. Twelve innings were played. The Athletics won by a score of 11 to 8.

—The Sunday baseball players of Bloomfield, to avoid the vigilance of the police, went over the line into Franklin township and played a game with a Franklin club.

—The Orange police were called on to quell disturbance between ball players last Saturday at Tux City. A Montclair and an Orange Club were playing, and nearly 1,000 spectators were on the grounds.

—The Montclair were defeated at Roseville on Monday morning by the Orange Athletics, 3 to 2. The Montclair players declare that the umpiring was against them. Mr. Cadue acted as umpire.

—The members of Active Hose Company were on and Saturday in expectation of a visit from the members of Excelsior Hose Company to engage in a game of baseball. The Excelsior players did not appear.

—The Roseville and the Tenth Ward Athletics will play on the Roseville Athletic grounds on Saturday afternoon.

Complaints are made about Sunday baseball players who gather near the township line of Bloomfield and Montclair every Sunday.

Pavilion Meetings.

Old Captain Nichols addressed the meeting last Monday night, and the audience listened very attentively while he related some of his early experiences on the canal and told of the wonderful way in which God saved him. The fervency of the captain seems to increase with the number of his years.

The meetings will be continued every Monday night. Next week a New York evangelist, whom the people will be glad to hear will be present, and on Sept. 17th, Rev. Egerton R. Young, for many years a missionary to the Indians in the far northwest, will give a lecture. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present at these meetings. No collection.

The Public Schools.

The Public Schools opened again on Tuesday morning. The scholars all seemed pleased to go back to their familiar places and greet their teachers again. The enrollment is larger this year than last, but it will take about two weeks to be able to tell with certainty just what the average will be. The buildings have all been subjected to a thorough renovation during the vacation season. The changes in the teachers' roll are but few: Miss Imogene Martin takes the place of Miss Van Campen at the Brookside School, Miss Van Campen takes the place of Miss Hattie Dodd at the Grammar School, Miss Dodd having secured a position in Franklin District School, East Orange; Miss Arvilla Martin takes the place of Miss Cora Dodd at Berkeley Primary; and Miss Lotta Grant will fill the position of music teacher vice Miss Smith resigned.

Colossal Impudence.

To The Citizens:

In a public print issued from Montclair there appears an editorial of which the following is a part:

"In Bloomfield the bulk of the population is made up of mechanics and laborers in the lower occupations of life. With Montclair the case is different. Bloomfield cannot keep pace with Montclair in the matter of progressiveness, even if it so desires. Its main body of taxpayers are poor men. Its apparent inactivity is the result of its poverty, and not of a lack of ambition."

After reading such blunderingly stupid stuff as that, the sensible citizen of both these towns, who know the man who has become so suddenly prominent as editor and proprietor of a newspaper, will be amazed as well as righteously indignant.

"Now, in the names of all the gods at once, Upon what mortal doth this our quarrel feed That he ignores us so great!"

Silent contempt might be best, in this matter, were it not that Montclair should be relieved of the stigma of owning a citizen as an "editor," and that, since he lives in Bloomfield, he ought forthwith to give up editing and take to ditching, otherwise he might be suddenly waded upon by a Bloomfield delegation and asked to leave a town he cannot appreciate. One who is not as yet above asking assistance and credit in small matters, of mechanics, tradesmen and others in Bloomfield, should learn that he cannot pay debts with insults. It might be said that a fool may be able, with a little money, for a while to "cry," a paper, but brains, education, ability and experience, as well as those inborn qualities that distinguish the honorable, truth-speaking level-headed man, are needed to establish one.

When Mr. Cook, original founder of the New Montclair paper, after contributing liberally, left it to its fate, it became bankrupt apparently, in everything except that which is chosen as the heading of this.

—The Bloomfield Republican Club will hold a mass meeting in Dodd's Hall next Tuesday evening. An array of home talent will furnish the addresses. The speakers will be Thos. McGowan, W. A. Baldwin, Geo. W. Cook, Oscar Hall, Henry Lawrence and F. H. Pich. The speeches will be of fifteen minutes duration. "The Glee Club" will sing.

The Colored Republican Club of the Orange was present.

Obituary.

Press, in Bloomfield, N. J., Aug. 16th, Mrs. Annie E. Osborn, wife of Elias S. Osborn, and oldest child of the late Charles S. Willet, who was so highly honored as a deacon for many years of the First Baptist Church of Bloomfield.

Mrs. Osborn's religious training had been such as to lead her while young to give her heart to Christ. She united with the Baptist Church of Bloomfield in the year 1858, and was a successful teacher in the Sabbath School until her health failed. For a number of years she struggled with an incurable disease. Toward the close of her life she displayed faith in Christ to a remarkable degree, so when the time of her departure came she longed to go and be with her risen Lord. Her bodily sufferings were sanctified to her, for borne with Christian resignation, her attention being polished and prepared her as a precious gem to shine the brighter in the day when he shall "make up his jewels." Besides her husband, she leaves three sons and two daughters to mourn her loss.

"The star is not extinguished when it sets Upon the dull horizon; it but goes To shine again in the firmament. In ours as fresh as when it first arose."

The funeral services were held Monday, August 20th, at the family residence, and were conducted by Rev. C. A. Cook and Rev. Dr. W. F. Shubert.

PURE JERSEY or ALDERNEY MILK, IN GLASS BOTTLES!

PURE JERSEY or ALDERNEY MILK in QUART GLASS BOTTLES will be delivered by me, and the patronage of the public is solicited. The Milk offered is warranted perfectly pure and is from imported Jersey Cattle. The Cattle are fed on the BEST of hay and food, no feed being allowed them that would impair the healthfulness of the Milk. The stables and cattle are kept in the most perfect manner as to cleanliness and ventilation—a most important factor in healthy milk production. As a table article and beverage it recommends itself, showing a large percentage of cream than any other Milk sold. For invalids and children it is recommended by all physicians.

MILK IN GLASS HAS THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES:

1st. It is more cleanly than being exposed to open air and contamination, as blowing dust, and dirt, to the drip and dirt from the reins or hands of the driver.

2d. Its quality may be seen at a glance by the cream at the top, and the color of the milk.

3d. It will keep sweet longer, because in delivering there is no churning (each bottle being filled to the stopper,) and the air has no chance to get upon it, and because it is also free from the metallic flavor often noticed in milk transported in tin.

Parties wishing to be served can call at farm in Bloomfield, or send postal to JOHN F. MAXFIELD, Bloomfield, N. J.
